CAROL'S THEME IN HER OWN WORDS

LEAD to Inspire

"I'm blessed to lead a company like UPS, but the truth is, the past two years have been really hard for our team. UPSers are essential workers.

During the pandemic, they didn't work from home – they got up every day and sorted and delivered packages with volumes that reached unprecedented levels. I believe I was called to lead this company to inspire our workers ... to support them in their efforts ... to celebrate them. I lead to inspire our people. They are why I get out of bed in the morning."

SERVE to Create

"I believe any good leader has a servant's heart, always putting those around them first in everything they do. For me, serving to create is about investing in people so they can reach their highest potential – whatever that is.

I'm so proud of people that I've invested in – people who worked for me who are now CFOs of publicly traded companies, people who worked for me who are now CEOs of publicly traded companies. Investing in someone's development to help them reach their highest potential ... putting them before yourself ... is a joy."

GIVE to Remain

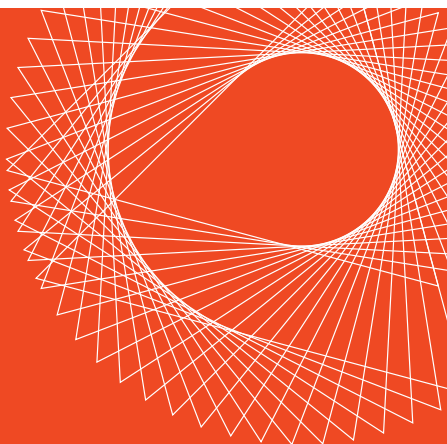

"At UPS, we recently had the privilege of hosting Lin-Manuel Miranda, the creator of Hamilton. I got to interview him – it was really cool. One of the lyrics he wrote that really resonates with me is: 'When you are gone, who remembers your name? Who keeps your flame? Who tells your story?'

Think about Martha Berry (the Berry College founder). We are still telling her story. That's because she gave to others above all else. A spirit of giving transcends time, it transforms lives, and it lights the way for the next generation.

I give of my time, I give of my money, I give to remain ... so someone will tell my story. Who will tell your story?"

About the Council

The Council for Quality Growth, a not-for-profit trade association, is the only organization that works every day to ensure the metro Atlanta region's regulatory environment supports quality growth and development. As the only advocacy organization that operates broadly across the growth and development industry, the Council for Quality Growth brings together and advocates for those who work at the intersection of public policy and private investment, including developers, contractors, engineers, architects, planners, law firms, and banks. The Council is often engaged by the public sector to advise on regulations that protect communities while continuing to encourage economic development.
